

Dr Christos Kontogiorgis is Associate Professor of Hygiene at the Medical School, Democritus University of Thrace, Alexandroupolis, Greece. He participates in many undergraduate and postgraduate courses. He has recently co-organized the Postgraduate Course entitled “Primary Health Care”. He has organized the first research group of pharmacoepidemiological studies in Greece and he is the coordinator of the Greek Symposium on Pharmacoepidemiology, which was organized five times. He is co-founder of Hellenic Society of Pharmacoepidemiology. He is representative of Greece in ENCePP and he has been elected as member of ENCePP Steering Group. He is a co-author or author of correspondence in over 90 PubMed-indexed and Scopus-indexed papers and 250 studies presented in National and International Conferences. He is supervisor of Postdoctoral Researchers and PhD, Master and undergraduate students. He has been involved in many European and national research projects either as PI or as member of the research group.

Email: ckontogi@med.duth.gr