Dear colleagues,

During the last years the specialty of Pulmonology has been highlighted as of key importance and established in the consciousness of the medical world and society as a frontline specialty.

The Department of Respiratory Medicine at the University of Patras having extroverted orientation and following the legacy of the last 4 years, responds to the increased needs for scientific training & education by organizing the 5th consecutive hybrid Congress: “Bridges of Pulmonology 2026”, which will be held on June 4th-June 6th 2026, in Patras, at the Conference and Cultural Center, within the University Campus. Our conference will be for the second time not only under the auspice of our national Universities but also under the auspice of European University of Cyprus, further extending its international impact.

Our conference will be also under the auspice of our international society, namely MAID (Mediterranean Association of Inflammatory Disorders) and will focus on a scientific journey through time where international speakers and several worldwide and national experts will present the milestone discoveries that shifted our diagnostic, prognostic and therapeutic dial throughout the years, including artificial intelligence. Importantly, following our aim to prepare future doctors, our conference will focus on medical education through competency-based training, early clinical exposure, and simulation-based learning for young residents, fellows and sophomore medical students within the context of early career sessions, round-tables and symposia. Their interaction with international and national experts within the activities of our conference will expedite their career development plans through a fascinating scientific experience.

Our kickoff session will be related to the transformative impact of medicine on the society and will provide valuable feedback from healthcare professionals, patients and volunteers on their role in increasing awareness for chronic respiratory diseases including COPD, lung cancer and fibrosis. Patient advocacy groups will be actively involved testifying patient needs and priorities and providing insights that will help bridge the gap between health care providers and patients.

The Congress also aims to unite different medical specialties & scientific communities on a practical approach basis, to achieve optimal patients' management. It includes rich topics that not only respond to key clinical issues but also extend to the area of translational and basic research highlighting the importance of mechanistic thinking in the diagnosis and treatment of the complex respiratory patient. Thus, doctors of all specialties will gain benefits in the management of the complex respiratory patient.

With the hope and anticipation that this Congress will help building communication “bridges” and exchanging of scientific opinions among:

- a. physicians and patients' groups enhancing disease awareness, providing disease education and advancing care
- b. the medical specialties of Pulmonology, Cardiology, Pathology, Rheumatology, Neurology, Oncology, Nephrology, Allergology, ENT, General Medicine and Intensive Care
- c. primary and tertiary care health

I will be looking forward to your maximal participation in a constructive three days Congress. Within the era of precision medicine, we should never forget that patients should lie at the core of decision making and disease management.

Parallel Session II

Pitfalls in diagnosis and management of common pulmonary disease

Chair: I. Papanikolaou, M. Stroumpou, I. Tselepis

- Interstitial Lung Disease, D. – E. Kakolyris
- Tuberculosis, G. - A. Petraki
- Pulmonary Embolism, G. Bakopoulos
- Community acquired pneumonia with pleural effusion, M. - A. Tzouvelekis

17:20 - 17:45

Coffee Break

17:45 - 19:45

Round Table

Current Trends and Future Perspectives in Interventional Pulmonology

Chair: F. Sampsonas, G. Stratakos, I. Titopoulos

Keynote Lectures

- Current trends and future perspectives in Robotic Bronchoscopy, K. Lau
- The role of endosonography - Guided fine needle aspiration in preoperative restaging of lung cancer, S. Bilaceroglu
- Local treatment of peripheral nodules. When and how? What is the role of microwaves, cryoablation & radiofrequencies? N. Anagnostopoulos
- From ILAs to Early - IPF: When to move from observation to cryobiopsy, S. Tomassetti
- Rigid Bronchoscopy in the era of modern Interventional Pulmonology - When and why remains the golden standard, S. Popević

Commentators: M. Angelidis, E. Georgiannakis, L. Papastavrou

Scientific Program

Friday 5th June 2026

10:00 - 11:00

Round Table

Sleep disorders - A journey through time

Chair: G. Efraimidis, K. Karkoulias, P. Steiropoulos

State of the Art Lecture

Classification of sleep disorders beyond the conventional criteria,
D. Georgopoulos

Keynote Lecture

Chronotypes in obstructive sleep apnea, G. Trakada

- Hypoxic burden in obstructive sleep apnea, K. Cholidou
- Polysomnography - Back to Basics, N. Athanasiou

Commentators: M. Katsaras, D. Lykouras

Parallel Session

09:00 - 11:00

Young Investigator Session - From bench to bedside

Chair: J. Khoury, M. Mukherjee, V. Sotiropoulou

Keynote lecture

GPR87 as a novel therapeutic target in IPF, J. Khoury

- Pulmonary adipocyte deposits in lung fibrosis - A novel fibrotic regulator, P. Tsiri
- The role of monocytes and eosinophils as prognosticators of clinical outcomes in COPD, A. Assioura
- Prognostic biomarkers in fibrotic ILDs, I. Nakou
- Biologics in severe asthma - The role of biomarkers, M. Blizou
- Pulmonary Hypertension associated with Interstitial Lung Diseases - A case-based presentation, E. Foteinaki
- Beyond HRCT - Transthoracic U/S and Oscillometry for the Diagnosis of CTD-ILDs, D. Mylopoulou
